PREAMBLE

Montclair State University is proud of its long history of excellence. Since its start as a normal school in 1908, it has provided New Jersey with superior school teachers. Its development from teachers college to a high quality multiple purpose institution was nurtured by the quality of its prior work in the humanities, the natural and social sciences, and the fine arts. Professional programs in turn emulated the quality of other areas and contributed to the excellence of Montclair's curriculum and the high regard for its graduates. In the 1970s, the School of Fine and Performing Arts was designated a Center of Influence by the New Jersey Board of Higher Education. The Institution was designated a university by the Board of Higher Education in 1994. The University continues to respect its role in the training of teachers while broadening its responsibilities to other professions.

STATEMENT OF MISSION

The mission of Montclair State University as a multipurpose public institution is to develop educated persons of inquiring, creative, and disciplined intelligence to be competent in careers that are fulfilling and to be socially responsible contributors to society. This University strives, therefore, to graduate people on the bachelor's and master's level who have had sound education in the arts and sciences and relevant specialized training built upon that base.

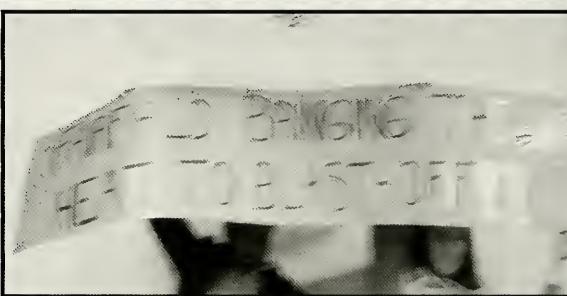

The Way it Was, The Way it Is

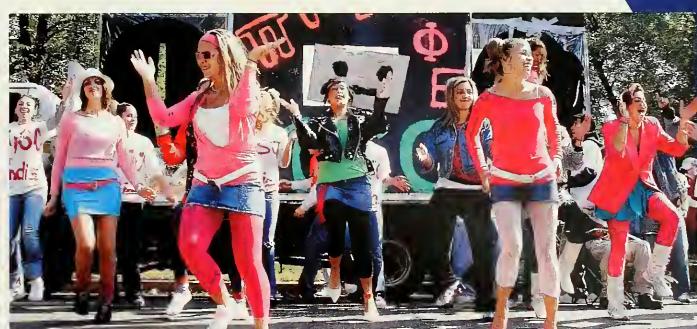

La Campana

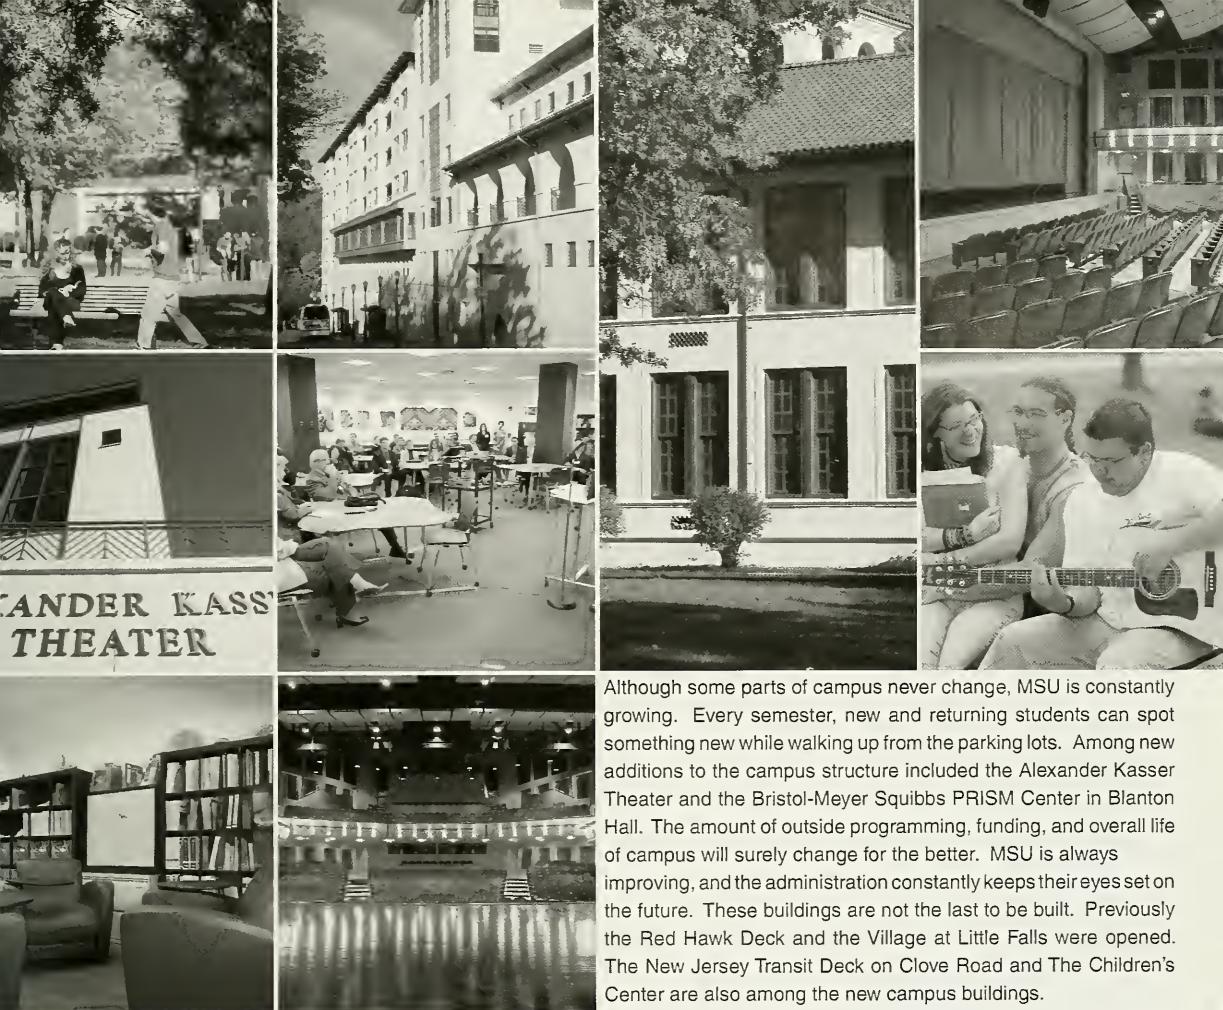

It's cold in the winter!

During the winters months, it is vital to bundle up while walking from the lower lots, or by Yogi Bera Stadium! The wind tunnels on campus, especially when it snows, should be given a special study! With a snow trimmed campus, the atmosphere is breathtaking. Keep warm!

Although some parts of campus never change, MSU is constantly growing. Every semester, new and returning students can spot something new while walking up from the parking lots. Among new additions to the campus structure included the Alexander Kasser Theater and the Bristol-Meyer Squibbs PRISM Center in Blanton Hall. The amount of outside programming, funding, and overall life of campus will surely change for the better. MSU is always improving, and the administration constantly keeps their eyes set on the future. These buildings are not the last to be built. Previously the Red Hawk Deck and the Village at Little Falls were opened. The New Jersey Transit Deck on Clove Road and The Children's Center are also among the new campus buildings.

Life at Montclair State is always changing

Living on campus is quite an experience. Students have many options. Whether a single, double, triple, or apartment style room, living on campus gives students a new community to be a part of.

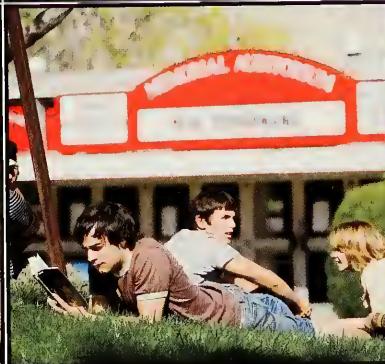

Walking to class, students pass by the Alumni Gardens near College Hall, that overlook Sprague Library. This green area of campus colors up in the springtime with blooming flowers and students studying nearby.

People are always walking around on campus. It takes about ten minutes to walk from the south side of campus to the north side. Although with an ever growing campus expanding each year, that time may increase!

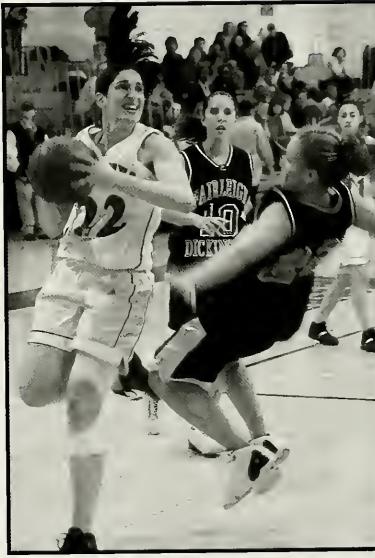

PEAK PERFORMANCE

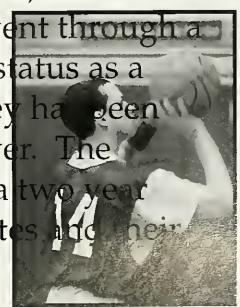

Athletics

MSU students support their athletes. Any student athlete will say that training is long and rigorous, but the outcome of the hardwork and success pays off. The student participation is evident in all aspects of each sport stemming from players to fans. This year, our very own Wrestling team was declassified due to budget cuts as well as the Men and Women's Cross Country, Women's Tennis, and Men's Lacrosse teams. The teams were left with only club status instead of varsity. With the help from the Student Government Association, alumni, parents, friends, and concerned students, these sports went through a monumental battle to regain their status as a classified varsity sport. The journey has been promising, but is no where near over. The Wrestling team was reinstated for a two year period. We wish our student athletes and their respective teams the best.

RED HAWK FOOTBALL

Success becomes tradition.

G o Red Hawks!

The MSU Football Team members are diligent and hardworking. They had a great season and have made students and administrators alike very proud!

Congratulations on a great season!

SWIMMING DDIVING

Success becomes tradition.

Swimming reminds us to grab our bathing trunks to lounge in the sun (and sometimes the water). The Swimming and Diving Team not only splashed into the water during the cold months, but they trained for the majority of the year. Panzer's pool provided a practice space that trained these athletes for all of their meets. With poise, excellence, and strength, the Red Hawk swimmers had an amazing year. With supportive family and friends, MSU is grateful to have a wonderful team. Fantastic work!

X-COUNTRY

Success becomes tradition.

Endurance is vital for any cross country athlete. The men and women of MSU's Cross Country Team exceeded all limitations. This season, they were able to stay focused on their goals through team support. Working hard is an understatement for any athlete and their respective sport, and this is true of the students who put their time into Cross Country this semester. Excellent work everyone!

WRESTLING

Success becomes tradition.

The MSU Wrestling Team unified the campus community when they learned they would be cut as a Division 3 Team to a school club. Losing this status with matches, games, training, and championships, the wrestlers banded together on an incredible journey to save the MSU Wrestling Team. With help from family, friends, students, and alumni, the men raised money to keep the team as a Division 3 sport while working with various departments on campus and the Student Government Association. After a few months of grueling work for the wrestlers, Montclair State reinstated the wrestling team! We wish them the best as an excellent sports team that brings greatness to MSU!

Success becomes tradition.

Champions aren't made in gyms. Champions are made from something they have deep inside them-a desire, a dream, a vision. They have to have last-minute stamina, they have to be a little faster; they have to have the skill and the will. But the will must be stronger than the skill.

Greek Life

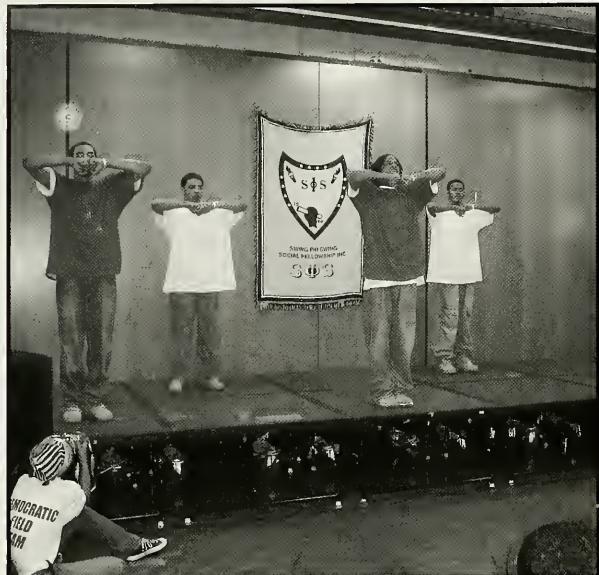

Greek life has been a vital part of the campus community. While walking from Yogi Berra Stadium to the Student Center, one can see the creativity and presence of the Greeks from the famous painted rocks. For years fraternities, sororities, and social fellowships have provided community service and campus programming, proving that they are a valuable asset to the university. Advisor Hayden Greene has played a necessary role in Greek life, from organizing retreats to hosting events to being an example. Greek life completes the student atmosphere at Montclair State.

Tau Phi Beta

TΦB

The brothers of tau phi beta

Tau Phi Beta was founded at Southern Connecticut University in 1985. They then began a chapter at William Paterson University in 1987. Montclair's chapter was founded in 1991. Since its founding, it has grown into one of the top fraternities at Montclair State University.

Tau Phi Beta's orginial colors were black, red, and gold. When a chapter was founded at William Paterson, the colors were changed to black and silver. The brothers of Tau Phi Beta are known as the Bulls as well as The Fun Bunch. Tau Phi Beta was founded by business majors. Since the stock market is also termed the "Bull" market, the name fit. The Fun Bunch is an acronym for the Greek letters Tau Phi Beta.

The Bulls root itself in personal growth and value of its brothers. It keeps its numbers small, believing in quality, not quantity. It is one of the few local fraternities left at Montclair State University and is both a social and philanthropical fraternity. It participates in Greek Week, Homecoming, fundraisers, as well as on and off campus events.

The Bulls run their pledge program in order to teach its members to only respect those who give respect. Another reason it keeps its numbers low is to ensure that each brother knows each other. It is one of the few fraternities left that pledges on line.

The purpose of this organization is to promote education through the bonds of friendship and sisterhood. This shall be accomplished through social and campus related projects and activities as well as, projects benefitting the underprivileged children of the community.

Theta Kappa Chi

Lambda Tau Omega

Student Life

No matter where our lives lead us, there is one thing that we will always have in common, our campus. From all walks of life we all come together as the students of Montclair State University. It is during our four years, or five, at times even six that we get to know one another through our interactions on this campus. Campus life is not just resident students, it is our commuters, it is our administrators, and campus life. Campus life consists of opportunities, the friendships, and the good times that we will always treasure. Each person who comes to Montclair adds their own piece to this puzzle, whether as a Resident Assistant for Residence Life, being an active member of one of our organizations, or even commuting. Campus life is the connections, the friendships, the characteristics we develop about ourselves; Campus Life is the essence of our college life.

Graduation

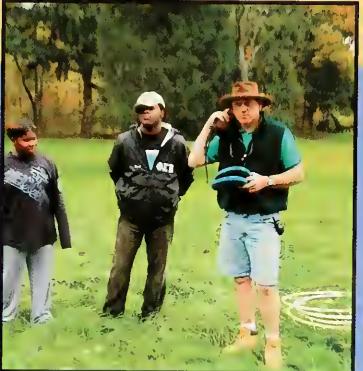

Student Government Association

A message from your SGA President

Dear fellow students,

And so another school year closes at Montclair State University. To those of you returning next fall, I'd like to send you my best wishes. I hope you continue to enjoy Montclair State campus life and all that it has to offer.

To my fellow graduates in the Class of 2005, I extend my sincerest congratulations. We surely have a promising future ahead. Those of us born since 1980 have been labeled the Millennial Generation. Studies show us to be a generation that is technologically savvy, accepting of diversity, community-oriented, and open to new pursuits. And Montclair State has afforded us an extensive, well-rounded, and intimate education that reflects and encourages these Millennial Generation trends. That is why every last one of our graduates are prepared; though one out of 5 of us graduating this spring is from a previous generation born before 1980, Montclair State offers and prepares all its graduates with the Millennial mindset, regardless of age.

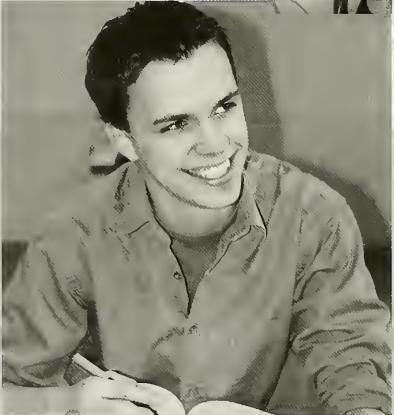

It is this Millennial mindset that sets America's Class of 2005 apart and promises a dynamic future. In due time, we will use this mindset to lead our country and shape America's course. These are unique times; our world has changed considerably since the start of the twenty-first century. We live in a time characterized by homeland security. We're a nation sharply divided in the last two presidential elections, dead-locked between two distinct ideologies. Once more, we are a country in a war that arouses staunch support in some, and critical opposition in others. We're faced with social questions, including the definition of marriage and the future of Social Security. Without question, we know an uncertain environment awaits us; many in America's Class of 2005 entered our first days of college only a few days before September 11, 2001.

But soon enough, it will be our turn to lead. It is estimated that in twenty years Millennials will make up 20 percent of national leaders, and over 50 percent in thirty years. At that time we can expect the first Millennial in the White House. But, fear not. Our Millennial mindset will allow us to lead with amazing ability. Academics believe that Millennial leaders will take today's cutting-edge technology and research and apply it broadly to large-scale projects, strengthening our country's welfare. As we are currently more accepting of diversity than our predecessors, we will abandon the moral and cultural wedge issues that define today's political climate, and debate our country's course on a more rational and objective basis. All indications show that the Millennial mindset will enable us to be a hero generation of a remarkable caliber.

With this in mind, we have a great deal to look forward to. Again, best wishes to you, my fellow graduates. I look forward to working with you in the decades ahead as we shape American's course.

With Sincerity,

Jacob V. Hudnut

Closing

As the semester ends, we all can look back and see where we started from. As we entered as freshmen or transfer students to MSU, we were filled with mixed emotions. Some of us were scared, some happy, some excited, and some not phased at all.

Perhaps these feelings have changed over the course of time we have spent growing and learning on this campus. Whatever your core was in succeeding to graduate, use that as you enter a new beginning.

This chapter of our lives has closed, but all things are made new when the time comes. Make the most of the time you do have. Time waits for no one. Enjoy your new beginning!

La Campana

When I started my junior year at MSU in the Fall of 2005, the SGA learned in late December that there was no yearbook committee. After spending a month trying to organize students to put together an already late yearbook, I found myself taking on the role as Editor-in-Chief. These past few months have proved to be strenuous, however with the confidence and help of a few people, the 2004-2005 yearbook is complete.

As you turn the pages and look back at memories of the past, remember to enjoy each day as it passes in the present. Time is too short. Whatever task comes your way, enjoy it despite the difficulty. Every obstacle will make you a stronger person. Above all, finish what you set out to do. Do not leave something undone - give it 110%. Remember the paths and buildings of the campus as they will change with an ever growing university! In ten years will you remember what your campus looked like? Don't forget to take a good look now!

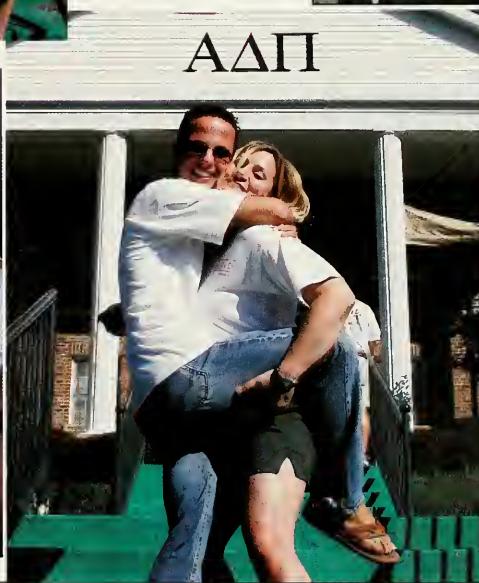

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the people who have helped me in this long and hard process. Thank you to the Student Government for allowing the yearbook to be completed despite a nonexistent La Campana organization. I am sure the 2005 graduating class appreciates your kindness. Thank you to the administration for supporting the SGA and those in it. Thank you to my family for the time I have missed with you this year and backing me in my decision to finish La Campana '05. Thank you Dad for your invaluable photography lessons. Thank you to my roomies, Jasmin, Maria, and Shrey, for being there for me always when I actually was in the village! Thank you to Maria Soares Elizabeth Yates, Susan Miller, and Diana Salemeh for helping with the editing and typing process. Thank you Intervarsity! Thanks Tim! It is finally done!

May God watch over you all on your new journey!

Fondly,
Amy Chicken
Editor-in-Chief
